

TO ACTIVATE VASCO VACMAN MIDDLEWARE OR INDENTIKEY THE PROCESS IS THE SAME

Note

If you are using an evaluation license, you still need to go through the license activation process.

Select the Go to the Activation Web page now option to immediately view the licensing page on the VASCO web site.

Check any details which were automatically filled in, fill in any extra information required, and select the method to receive the license key – either email or download.

After the Activation Web Page has been submitted, the license key file will either start downloading, or be emailed to the email address you supplied.

Save the license key file to a directory on the install machine (ensure that it is saved as a .dat file, not a .htm or .html file), then go back to the installation screen. The screen will allow you to browse to the license key file for immediate loading.

Select the Save a shortcut to the desktop for later option to save a shortcut on the desktop to use at a later time.

If you already have a license file, select the Load the License Key from an existing License File option.

Browse to the file location and select the license key file.

The install program will load the license key during the installation progress.

Select Just Continue to do nothing with the license at this time.
